

Joachim Boldt, PD Dr.

Institution: Department of Medical Ethics and the History of Medicine, Faculty of Medicine, University of Freiburg
Contact: Phone: +49 761 203 5048, Email: boldt@egm.uni-freiburg.de
Position: Deputy Director

Academic education including academic degrees

1997 Mag. Art. in Philosophy, Linguistics, German Literature at Humboldt University, Berlin

Scientific graduation

2005 PhD (Dr. phil.) in Philosophy at Humboldt University, Berlin, with a thesis on Kierkegaard's ethics and epistemology
"Habilitation" at the Medical Faculty, Freiburg University, with publications on ethics of synthetic biology

Employment

Since 2010 Deputy Director, Department of Medical Ethics and the History of Medicine, University of Freiburg
2005-2010 "Wissenschaftlicher Mitarbeiter", Department of Medical Ethics and the History of Medicine, University of Freiburg

Other activities, awards and honours

Since 2012 Associate member, Cluster of Excellence BIOSS (Centre for Biological Signalling Studies), University of Freiburg
2013 Visiting Scholar at the Hastings Center / New York and at the Interdisciplinary Center for Bioethics, Yale University (Yale-Hastings Visiting Scholar Program)
2013-2017 Member of Steering Committee and PI, European project on synthetic biology, "Synenergine", funded by the European Commission.
2010-2013 Coordinating Investigator, Multicenter ELSA Research Project "Engineering Life", funded by the German Federal Ministry of Education and Research.
2009-2011 Invited Project Member, Research Project "Ethical Issues in Synthetic Biology", The Hastings Center, New York.
2009 MTZ-Award, Faculty of Medicine, Freiburg University
2008 Eugen-Fink-Award, Faculty of Philosophy, Freiburg University

Member of Freiburg University's Research Ethics Committee (IRB)

Coordinator of Freiburg University Hospital's Clinical Ethics Committee