

Björn Lillemeier, Prof. Dr.

Institution: Institute of Biology III – Molecular Immunology, University of Freiburg,
Schänzlestr. 1, 79104 Freiburg
Contact: Email: lillemeier@bio.uni-freiburg.de
Position: Full Professor for Molecular Immunology

Academic education including academic degrees

1997 Diploma in Biochemistry – Freie Universität Berlin, Germany and Cancer Research UK London, UK

Scientific graduation

2001 Ph.D. in Biochemistry – Cancer Research UK and University College, London, UK

Employment

2019 – Present Professor – Albrecht Ludwigs Universität Freiburg, Freiburg, Germany
2016 – 2019 Associate Professor – Salk Institute for Biological Studies, La Jolla, USA
2009 – 2016 Assistant Professor – Salk Institute for Biological Studies, La Jolla, USA
2002 – 2009 Postdoctoral Research – Stanford University, Stanford, USA

Other activities, awards and honours

2013-2016 Helen McLoraine Developmental Chair
2012 National Institutes of Health (NIH) Director's New Innovator Award
2010-2012 Rudolph and Sletten Developmental Chair in Immunobiology and Microbial Pathogenesis
2002-2005 Human Frontier Science Program, Long Term Fellowship
1997-2000 Böhringer Ingelheim Fonds, Scholarship
1996 Dr. Carl Duisberg Stiftung, Scholarship